

A still life painting by Glen Scouller. The scene is set on a vibrant pink tablecloth. In the center, a clear glass vase holds a bouquet of white and red flowers. To the left, a dark bird perches on a metallic pedestal. In the foreground, a red pitcher and a blue cup are visible, along with several sliced lemons. The background features a yellow wall and a blue and white striped pattern on the left. The overall style is expressive and colorful.

Introduction

'As the daylight disappears how welcome is a shot of colour from Glen Scouller. In an exhibition that concentrates on domestic themes, rather than paintings of more exotic landscapes, Glen returns to his staple of elegant still life paintings, snow on Loudounhill, and the East Neuk. Every one a gem.'
